Foam Block, 4-Hole Adapter

The foam block is designed to be laminated into a socket, and it is typically used for two step lamination process. Socket can be bench aligned onto the foam block and can be set by using any kind of quick setting glue. Once the alignment between the socket and the foam block is set, trim the foam block as needed and prepare it for second lamination. Any 4-hole adapters with European 4-hole pattern will fit onto the foam block adapter. This product has a 2 year warranty.

3-Prong Rotating Base

① 3-Prong Rotating Base

The 3-prong adapter is used for lamination onto transfemoral socket. The adapter provides 360 degree of rotation for pyramid adapter or pyramid receiver. This product can be used with the 1215T, 1225T/S or 1216T/S. The 1221S is manufactured from a high quality and strong product. This product has a 2 year warranty.

② Formable 3-Prong Rotating Base

The titanium formable 3-prong adapter is used for lamination onto transfemoral socket. The adapter provides 360 degree of rotation for pyramid adapter or pyramid receiver. Titanium is made in combination of a formable titanium alloy and high strength rigid alloy. This combination provides a high strength and easy formability suited to the shape of the socket. This product has a 2 year warranty.

(The strict socket lamination guidelines must be followed.)
